Comment from the VA Community Action Partnership – Erik Johnston, President

Mr. Johnston is traveling to meet with all thirty-one community action agencies in person and has been inspired by the work of the community action agencies and their partners across the state. VACAP is working to implement a return to in person conferences. He invited the Board and partners to the first annual Pathways from Poverty to Prosperity Summit scheduled for November 1 and 2 at the VA Housing Center in the Richmond area. VACAP also plans to hold a conference during next year's General Assembly session. In July the General Assembly's block grant subcommittee approved the two-year state CSBG plan. Their network heard from Commissioner Avula at the board meeting and were inspired by the Commissioner's commitment to public service and excited about his efforts with the Administration to highlight best practices in the workforce training/career readiness space, trauma informed care leadership and foster care/kinship efforts. They are amid a statewide wage study by community action agencies and support for fiscal services models in partnership with the Office of Economic Opportunity that are implementing best practices and saving funding by our network working together to address staffing challenges. He expressed appreciation for the partnership VACAP Racial Equity Committee has developed with OEO on providing trainings for our network and partnership with AmeriCorps Vista for support. He also thanked the Governor and General Assembly for their increased investment in TANF funds to support community action agencies and the new partially refundable state EITC.
